Part one - Introduction

What does this guide do?
This guide brings together information on housing-related support services available in and around Elmbridge. It also provides contact details of other services that might be useful.

This guide does not include details of housing-related support services catering specifically for older people. These are available in a separate document, “A Guide to Housing Options for Older People in Elmbridge“, available from: http://www.elmbridge.gov.uk/housing/

What is Housing-Related Support?
Housing-related support offers support of a ‘preventative’ or ‘low level’ nature. For some, it will be a stepping stone to independent living in the longer term, whilst for others it is life-long support that will help people to live independently within the community.

Services vary and are tailored to the needs of the people that use them.

Housing-related support does not include personal or ‘home care’.

What might be included in a housing-related support service?
Providers of housing-related support help with activities such as:

- Finding employment or voluntary work
- Accessing services such as doctors, dentists etc.
- Managing money/budgeting skills
- Claiming benefits
- Developing domestic and/or social skills
- Being safe at home
- Moving and settling into a new home
- Helping users to sustain their tenancy

Who can access these services?
Services are designed to help a range of people, such as:

- People experiencing or at risk of domestic abuse
- People with mental health problems
- Older people with support needs
- People with drug or alcohol problems
- Vulnerable young people (such as care leavers)
- People with physical or sensory disabilities
- People with learning disabilities
- Homeless people or people at risk of homelessness.

What are accommodation-based and floating support services?
Housing-related support service can be offered in different settings, for example in hostels for the homeless, supported housing schemes and within an individual’s home. The support package is provided over a period of time which can range from a couple of months to many years. Services are delivered in two main ways:

Floating Support: Floating support can be provided to people living in their own homes, whether they rent or own them and is usually temporary. The support “floats away” when it is no longer needed.
Accommodation-based support: This is also known as supported housing and covers schemes where the support is tied to the accommodation, and is often provided by the landlord – usually a housing association, which would normally have a contract with Surrey County Council to provide the support. The support usually ends when the tenancy ends and clients move on.

How are services accessed?

There are different access arrangements for different services. Some services will accept self-referrals, whilst others will only accept referrals from specified organisations. Part two of the guide sets out the referral arrangements for each service.

What does it cost?

For the majority of services listed in the guide, the provider of support will have a contract with Surrey County Council to provide the support and will be paid directly.

In some cases, providers fund the services themselves and these are usually free to access.

For short-term services (where support is usually provided for less than two years) an individual is not charged for support costs but will be charged rent. In practice the majority of people receiving this support will have their rent met by housing benefit.

Longer-term services are offered through supported accommodation. Generally, if the resident is receiving housing benefit then the support will be provided at no cost to them. Where a tenant does not receive housing benefit, then they may be asked to pay the support charge.

If in any doubt about the costs of support and whether or not an individual will have to pay towards them, it is advisable to speak to the support provider.

How long will support be provided?

Where support is not intended to last more than two years, the aim is usually is to support people to become more independent during this period so they can live without support in the long term. These are known as short-term services.

Long-term services are generally offered for more than two years, with the aim to support residents to maintain their independence and to continue to live in the community for as long as possible. These services are generally provided in a supported accommodation setting, where the provision of support is tied to the offer of accommodation.
Part Two – Directory of Services

This section divides services by client group. Generic services provide support to anybody who requires it, so long as the service has the capacity to provide help and the service user qualifies for assistance.

To show stability, applicants will need to provide confirmation they have had a minimum of 3 clear urine tests taken over a 4-6 week period. Discussion about how the treatment script is prescribed will form part of the assessment process.

Relapse policy

Use of non-prescribed drugs or alcohol on or off the premises will not be permitted. In majority of the bed-spaces, including Hawkins House and Thorneycroft House, in order to protect the other clients and to ensure the accommodation remains safe (i.e. free from alcohol and non-prescribed drugs) all clients need to agree and accept that they will have to move out of the property within 24 hours should they relapse on or off the premises.

In the Recovery Houses, should a client relapse, consideration may be given to allowing the client to remain in the accommodation depending on whether the client wishes to regain and maintain their abstinence and the impact of their relapse on other clients. Other clients and the treatment provider will be consulted as part of this review. Transform cannot and does not accept responsibility for re-housing any client who relapses. However, should a client relapse, Transform will explore the possibility of offering other accommodation and assist the client to access support from local drug and alcohol agencies and other housing agencies.

Exclusion Criteria

▪ Those with a history of offending behaviour which poses a current risk to other clients, staff or neighbours.

a. Two supported shared houses for young people in Hersham
Service provider: Transform Housing & Support

Contact details: ☎ 01932 224778
Email elmbridge@transformhousing.org.uk
Website www.transformhousing.org.uk

Service description

Transform Housing provides two shared houses for young people in Hersham, providing supported accommodation for vulnerable, single young people (including care-leavers and / or those at risk of homelessness).

Each property has four bedrooms. Three bedrooms in each are available for the young people, with the fourth bedroom occupied by a residential volunteer, who provides supervision.

The accommodation is fully-furnished and each resident has a private bedroom and shares the other facilities.

Transform will provide around three hours of support to each resident each week, including about one hour face-to-face support.

The maximum length of stay in each property is two years.

Eligibility criteria and referrals

First priority for vacancies will be given to young people with a local connection to young people to whom Surrey County Council owed a legal duty, either because the young person is aged 16 or 17 and have been assessed as homeless by SCC’s Homeless Prevention Service; they were or are a looked after child, aged 16 or more; or they are young people leaving the care of SCC.

In the absence of SCC failing to identify suitable nominees, Transform will seek referrals from Elmbridge BC’s Housing Options Team. Such referrals should have an identified housing need under the Council’s Housing Allocations Policy and be between the ages of 18 to 25, with priority given to those aged 18 to 21.

Where EBC fails to identify suitable nominees, then Transform can then seek referrals of young people from SCC meeting the criteria outlined above, except that they will not need to have a local connection to Elmbridge.

Transform will notify SCC and then EBC of vacancies based on this “cascade” model. SCC nominees will be made via the Common Referral Form used by SCC, whereas EBC nominations will be made on Transform’s standard application form.

Exclusion criteria

- Couples, young women who are pregnant at the point of referral or young people with dependent children.
- Cases where the level of support required by the young person is considered to be in excess of that offered by the service.
- Those with a history of behaviour which poses a current risk to other clients, staff or neighbours.

Service provider: Transform Housing & Support

Contact details: ☎ 01932 224 778

Email: elmbridge@transformhousing.org.uk

Website: www.transformhousing.org.uk

Service description

Transform provide 12 one-bedroom, self-contained homes (six at Bankside Drive, Thames Ditton and six at Seymour Court, Cobham) which are intended as a last-stay option for service users prior to them moving on to independent accommodation. These homes are not restricted to a particular client group. The level of support provided is lower than in Transform’s other accommodation-based schemes in the borough with residents usually receiving visits on a monthly basis, although sometimes these will be increased to fortnightly visits. Staff can assist with advice on benefit and financial matters and discuss options for alternative accommodation after a service user has demonstrated the ability to move on.

Residents are granted assured-shorthold tenancies and the target length of stay is 18 months to two years, although the actual stays have been significantly longer.

Eligibility Criteria and referrals

Applicants with a recognised need for housing-related support, who need a low-level amount of support to move on to independent accommodation. The support is low and is intended as the last step before residents move onto fully independent accommodation.

Referrals tend to comprise residents of Transform’s other supported housing schemes in Elmbridge who have been assessed as being ready to move on to a lower support scheme before moving on to fully independent accommodation.
Referrals can be made by EBC Housing Options Team, although generally these are not appropriate as such cases tend to need a higher level of support than offered through this scheme.

Exclusion Criteria

Applicants whose needs exceed the level of support offered by the service. Applicants without a local connection to Elmbridge.

Move-on routes

To date, the main move-on route has been to mainstream social housing.

The Sanctuary Scheme is a victim centered initiative which aims to make it possible for victims of domestic abuse to remain in their own homes and feel safe. Many victims of domestic abuse feel that they need to move on numerous occasions as they are in fear of repeat incidents. This results in often moving away from their network of friends and family and having to uproot children from their schools. This scheme has been introduced to try to prevent this from happening.

It provides additional security free of charge, enabling victims of domestic abuse to remain in their own homes if they wish, and it is appropriate for them to do so. This may include new locks, stronger doors, window grilles, a security light and an external mailbox.
